

Strategy Execution in a Digital World

The Discipline of Business Process Management

The business environment is rapidly changing and new technologies are accelerating opportunities to compete in a world of unprecedented challenge.

Systematic strategy execution and innovation implementation is vital to benefit from the opportunities of a digital world.

Understanding the process of process management will empower you with immediate pragmatic value to deliver on your strategic objectives at pace and with certainty.

This eLearning course will take you on a journey into value-driven Business Process Management a key enabler to achieving organisational strategic goals.

eLearning (also referred to as on-demand or on-line learning) is more popular today than ever before. At Scheer Americas we strive to take every measure when it comes to addressing the requirements of our clients. Therefore, we are taking our most popular face-to-face training sessions and offering them as an eLearning option.

The eLearning option of our training features the same amount of training, experts, and learning objectives as our seminars; however, in a convenient on-demand, online format. The education course is broken into modules containing 3–5 minute segments for a micro-training delivery. This enables participants to attain the much needed information at their own pace and in their own preferred environment.
